

We need more, not fewer, restrictions on media ownership. We're sick and tired of the dominance of Fox News, Clear Channel and a handful of other media congloms that push right-wing screamers and mindless propaganda down our throats. If the FCC relaxes these rules, thoughtful public discourse in the U.S. may not survive.